

Sickles Market is now a Certified Wildlife Habitat

We are excited to announce that our property has been certified by the National Wildlife Federation as a Wildlife Habitat.

In order to become a Certified Wildlife Habitat, you must provide food, water, cover and a place for wildlife to raise their young and at Sickles Market, we provide all of those things!

As small as Sickles Market property seems compared to other wildlife areas, it's still a gem in the middle of incredible population, traffic, and other enemies of wildlife habitats.

A place to perch, dig, feed, and ramble is important in the suburbs, and some animals just find their little niche here.
